it was the week of Duarte's birthday, which is a nationally celebrated holiday, so there were only about three workers there that day.

years, as the export business has expanded, it has become more difficult to convince young Burmese or Cambodian.

should've seen the look the postie gave me when he delivered it.