in reality, your body doesn’t require any extra fuel during the first hour of exercise.
you probably aren't much of a water drinker or you buy those drink mixes to add to water so you get the water into your diet follow these guidelines to keep your family safe: